

creativity CON2012

Ignite Your Creative Fire - October 20, 2012
The Candy Factory, Lancaster, PA

Wood Stove House is excited to bring you our very first Creativity Conference in Lancaster, PA.

What is it?

Creativity CON 2012 is a one-day conference featuring five guest speakers who will present their experiences, ideas, tools, and resources to help you Ignite Your Creative Fire. There will be time for open discussion following each presentation. The conference is an excellent opportunity to network with creatives from the Lancaster area (and beyond).

Who should attend?

Any creative person looking for inspiration and information about being more creative. Whether you're a creative professional, student, hobbyist, or somewhere in between, there will be something to get you inspired to live your life filled with creative passion.

How much does it cost?

If you register by September 30, 2012, admission is only $99* for the day and includes admission to the conference, conference materials, a continental breakfast, and an afternoon snack. Lunch will be on your own, but we'll be working with restaurants on or near the 300 block of N. Queen Street to offer discounts to conference attendees. After September 30, admission is $125*. Seating is limited so be sure to register early!

How can I find out more information?

All conference details will be updated at our website www.creativitycon.com. Early bird registration will open on September 1, 2012 through the website. Questions or comments can be directed to Jason Mundok at 717-606-2992 or jason@woodstovehouse.com.

Creativity CON 2012 is a Wood Stove House event.

* processing fees will apply